Capt. Schmittberger had nothing to say except that he was innocent of the charge.

Judge Cowing, who was to pass upon Schmittberger's bail of $7,500, arrived at the Court-House at 11 o'clock and went to his chambers.

Policeman Conrad Schellenberger, of the Eldridge street station, also gave himself up at the District-Attorney's office this morning, he having been informed that a warrant had been issued for him, upon an indictment found yesterday charging him with assault upon Thomas J. Stanton, of 88 Madison street.

Schellenberger is thirty-three years old, and lives at 506 East Elghty-fourth

Mr. Howe said that he had only a few words to say about Capt. Schmittberger's indictment. The words were these:

"The paper on which the indictment is written was of some value when it was blaik.

"It is now utterly worthless.

"The presentation of the Grand Jury is a work of spoilation of good blank happer."

is a work of spoilation of good blank paper."

At 11.15 o'clock Capt. Schmittberger and Officer Schellenberger were taken into Part I. of the Court of General Sessions by Detective-Sergt. Reilly. With Capt. Schmittberger were Mr. Howe and Thomas Smith, of 329 West Fifty-first street, a contractor and builder, who had come downtown to go on Schmittberger's bond.

Assistant District-Attorneys Unger and Battle appeared for the District-Attorney's office.

Mr. Howe and Mr. Battle had a little consultation with Judge Cowing, who had come into the court-room, and then Judge Cowing said that he would hold Schellenberger in $2,000 ball for trial.

Capt. Schmittberger's ball, he said, he would near Mr. Howe upon.

Mr. Howe spoke of Capt. Schmittberger's record of bravery, dilligence and exercised worthluss. He then said that mon H. Brown.

There are two counts in the indictment. The first count defines Capt. Schmitt-berger as a "public officer" and describes his duties in great detail as a captain of police. It then charges that on Dec. 31, 1891. Capt. Schmittberger "did feloniously ask and receive and agree to receive a bribe and certain money amounting to the sum of $500 of and from Augustin Forget, upon an agreement and understanding between him, the said Max F. Schmittberger would and should, for and in consideration of the said bribe and sum of money, so asked and received of and from Augustin Forget, enforce the laws and ordinances of the city of New York at the pier of the Compagnie Generale Transatlantique more fully and faithfully than he otherwise would do, and was in duty bound to do as such public officer and captain of police, for the space of one year next ensuing." or ponce, for the space of one year next ensuing.

The second count of the indictment charges him with felony, in that he did for the next year "more fully and faith-fully enforce the laws and ordinances" oy reason of the bribe which he had received.
